

Asians Countries under the Japanese Occupation.

Depicting admiration of the commanding officer of the Japanese Imperial Army, who is described here as "a very gentle hero". Of course, it was written to brainwash children that soldiers were the most admirable people in Japan.

Pan-Asian Co-Prosperity: the growth of "DAI-TOA" countries; Burma became independent, Thailand expanded its domain, India is trying to expel England from the country, etc. The countries in "DAI-TOA" unite.

Japanese invasion: "DAI-TOA" ["Great East Asia" in literal translation] which means "East Asia, including Southeast Asia" was protected from the British and the American enemies because strong Japanese Army had driven them out of "DAI-TOA".

Representative Japanese Soldiers for the Asia Co-Prosperity to kill and to be killed for the Japanese Imperialism.
